NAZIS SHIFT ATTACK FROM STALINGRAD

Flying Fortresses Amaze Experts in Day Raid on Nazi Plants

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE

John Kerr may not be able to go into active combat against the enemies of his country... but he's going to do what he can to help the fighting men... and that is, lay his most treasured possession on the scrap pile.

It was almost a quarter of a century ago, that his brother, Dr. George Kerr, came marching home from the first World War... he brought with him one souvenir... one that not only carried memories of the conflict... but one like which there was none other... it was the casing of the last 75 shell fired by the famous 37th Division... he gave it to his brother John... and he has had it ever since in his home up on North North Street... he is very proud of that old shell casing... he has treasured it almost as dearly as life itself.

Now John Kerr wants to send that souvenir back to the battlefield... to be hurled into the fray by another generation of Yankees fighting for humanity... His voice trembled a little when he told me of his intention... but there was determination in his tone... he had made up his mind and was ready to make his sacrifice.

That old brass alloy shell casing brought back memories... remember those field pieces that played such havoc with the Germans when they before tried to conquer the World and stifle humanity?... they were commonly referred to as French 75's because they were first used by the French troops... then came along the Americans... and those Yankee doughboys fired them faster than the French thought they ever could be fired... at first they told the Yanks they would "burn up the guns"... but they went right on... faster, faster and faster... those gun crews eventually became the most feared on the front by the Heinies... and the French gasped in open mouthed amazement.

SOUTH AMERICANS DENY AID TO SUBS

Argentina and Chile Irked by
U. S. Inferences

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 10—(AP)—Argentina and Chile, the only American nations maintaining relations with the Axis, formally protested today assertions by Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles that the two countries are being used as bases by Axis agents.

Both governments issued strong notes categorically rejecting Welles' statement in Boston that ship sinkings in American waters have been due in part to the activity of Axis spies operating within their borders.

They declared in effect they were loyal to the American neighbors and that Welles had painted a false picture of their relations with other western hemisphere republics.

Observers here expressed belief the official reaction of the two governments had dealt a virtual death blow to Allied hopes that they might soon carry out recommendations of the Rio de Janeiro conference by severing all ties with the Axis.

HAUGLAND IS BACK IN AUSTRALIA AGAIN

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, Associated Press war correspondent, returned to Australia today still weak from the effects of wandering almost seven weeks through the New Guinea jungles but showing definite progress toward recovery.

Haugland, who parachuted from an army bomber when it ran out of gas in a storm over New Guinea and finally made his way to an isolated coastal post 43 days later, was brought to an American hospital here in a B-25 bomber. Physicians said Haugland had shown marked improvement in the last few days.

'Gave 'em Hell,' Says Yanks

Allied Fighters Swoop in for Kill When Enemy Planes
Go Against Fortresses

LONDON, Oct. 10.—(AP)—American Flying Fortresses and Liberator bombers—home from the greatest Allied daylight attack yet launched against Hitler's war foundry—again have amazed British air experts, who know from grim experience the hazards of daylight operations.

The return of all but four of the 100 United States bombers which stormed over occupied France with an escort of 500 Allied fighter planes yesterday and unloaded tons of bombs on factories and railroad yards apparently erased any doubts concerning the fortresses. All of the fighters returned safely.

British air correspondents said the weight of the American attack far exceeded the best daylight efforts of the Germans during the "blitz" of September, 1940.

On the last day of the battle of Britain, Sept. 15, 1940, the Germans sent over 500 planes in two groups of 250 each and lost at least 185 of them.

Nine or more Ohioans participated in the attack. "We gave 'em hell," said Maj. Kenneth Cool, 36, of Cleveland, a squadron leader. "There must have been 40 or 50 German fighters mowing around. I am ready to go back any time in our Liberator."

Maj. Addison Baker of Akron, also a Liberator squadron leader, commented: "I never saw so many fortresses in my life. They were all over the sky when we reached the target."

Seven Ohioans serving as sergeants aboard Flying Fortresses were: William J. Garrett, Youngstown; Donald D. Herman, Ninth St., S. W. Canton; Alex Pauline and Charles J. Geyer, Cleveland; Forest W. Bertsch, Sidney; John E. Rowe, Lancaster, and Leslie Cain, Columbus.

The Liberator's are faster than the Fortresses, but are not as formidable fighting craft as the Fortresses, which have proved themselves kings of the air in daylight operations. The Liberator crews claimed the destruction of seven Nazi fighters for the loss of one of their own planes.

Fighter pilots call the American bombers the "best bait" ever put up for the German Air Force because the Germans send up all available planes to stop them. The RAF and American fighters then get a chance at the German fighters.

4 CHILDREN DIE IN FIRE; BABY DROPPED TO SAFETY

BALTIMORE, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Four children eight to 16 years old were burned to death and a 20-month-old baby critically injured today in a fire which swept through their West Lombard Street home.

The baby was dropped from a second-floor window by 16-year-old Norma Brent just before the flames engulfed her. The victims were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brent.

GUN-WEILDER CONVICTED OF ASSAULT ON OFFICER

COLUMBUS, Oct. 10.—(AP)—James W. Matheny, 55, who went to trial on a charge of shooting Deputy U. S. Marshal Veley Main with intent to kill, was convicted of assault and battery by a jury. Main had tried to arrest Matheny on a charge of drunken driving. Matheny testified he thought the officer was a man who had threatened to kill him.

Aussies Clash with Japs on New Guinea

One of the first pictures released on the engagement between Allies and the Japs in the Owen Stanley mountains shows wounded Aussies, above, returning to their base near Port Moresby. The vegetation in this region is so thick the men were forced to walk six days before reaching a road suitable for ambulance travel. Latest reports indicate that the Allies have beaten off the Jap attempt to capture Port Moresby.

Allied Air Attack Blasts Supply Bases of Invaders on New Britain and Solomons To Balk New Attack

GENERAL MAC ARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Oct. 10.—(AP)—General Douglas MacArthur's airmen lashed out last night at the Japanese supply base at Rabaul, New Britain, spreading 60 tons of explosives and incendiary bombs among enemy supply dumps, barracks and jetties in the largest single air raid yet attempted in the southwest Pacific by Allied heavy bombers.

The raid started fires that were visible for 80 miles and underlined the statement of Navy Secretary Knox yesterday that the United States was on the offensive in the Pacific.

Australian ground forces were pushing into "the gap" in the Owen Stanley Mountains of New Guinea in pursuit of retreating Japanese troops.

General MacArthur's headquarters reported "our forward elements have established contact with the enemy's patrols in Myola - Templeton's crossing area." This area includes the gap, 6,000 feet up in the mountains, from which the trail drops sharply toward the enemy's advance base at Kokoda, a spokesman said.

It was the first time in two weeks that Allied forces had been reported in direct contact with the withdrawing Japanese. A spokesman said no large concentration of Japanese had been sighted, however.

Seeking to pin down ships, airplanes and supplies which the Japanese might send against the U. S. Marines in the Solomons, bombers under the command of Maj. Gen. George C. Kenney also raided Buka at the extreme northern tip of the Solomons, starting many fires. All the planes returned safely.

The bombers continued to pound at Japanese strong points in New Guinea and one formation dropped 16 tons of bombs on Japanese supply dumps, air-dromes and other installations at Lae.

GERMAN CLAIMS OF ANNIHILATION BRANDED 'LIES'

Hitler Diverts Armies from Siege of Stalingrad to Flank Attack

CITY FIGHT STILL RAGING

Situation Growing Grave for Russians in Caucasus
But Defense Savage

By ROGER D. GREENE
(By The Associated Press)

German armies diverted from the immediate siege of Stalingrad were reported counterattacking furiously on their imperiled northwest flank along a 40-mile front between the Don and Volga Rivers today, but the Russians said they had beaten off five assaults and entrenched to hold their gains.

Official Soviet quarters declared the Germans had lost 60,000 troops against Russian losses of 21,384 in a battle on the Leningrad front, south of Lake Ladoga.

German claims of having wiped out seven Red army divisions and captured 12,370 troops in fighting around the long-besieged northern metropolis were branded by the Russians as "a new fake of the Hitlerite counterfeiter... a lie from beginning to end."

Instead, the Germans suffered nearly 5-to-1 in manpower losses, as well as 200 tanks, 260 planes, 244 guns and 400 trench mortars, a Soviet communique said.

Inside Stalingrad, the battle flamed with apparently unabated intensity.

Dispatches to Izvestia said Red army defenders had withstood what was believed to be Adolf Hitler's supreme bid for a decision, crushing 80 tank-led attacks in a four-day old battle in the northwest suburbs.

Izvestia's front-line correspondent said the Nazi command threw at least two new divisions into the offensive, aimed at cutting through the city's heart to the Volga, but that the greater part of the attacks failed while others gained only a few dozen yards.

After more than 36 hours, there still was no indication that Nazi assault troops were being withdrawn, leaving the field to Stuka dive bombers and big siege guns to blast the metropolis into surrender. The German radio intimated Thursday this would be done.

The war bulletin said Nazi forces in the Caucasus also had surrounded a strong Russian force on the road to Tuapse, Soviet Black Sea naval harbor, and captured 47 fighting positions.

Soviet headquarters said Russian troops had crushed two more attempts by tank-led German riflemen to break through to the Volga—apparently in a northeast factory district, site of the great Stalin tank works—and wiped out a company of Nazi infantry.

The Russians also declared a Red Army force encircled for several days had escaped the German ring after a hard battle and had taken up defense posts in a nearby workers' settlement.

More Pork in Prospect For Civilian Use under New Hog Price Ceiling

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(AP)—More pork for the dinner table was in prospect today as the Office of Price Administration drafted an order which would drop the ceiling on hog prices somewhere between $1 and $2 per hundred pounds.

A food official who asked not to be quoted by name said OPA had informed the Agriculture Department it was about ready to lower the ceiling.

The effect of such an order, the spokesman said, would be to release for market quantities

DIM-OUT ORDERED FOR PACIFIC COAST

Strictly Regulation Put on by Army Command

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Pacific Coast states were placed under new and stricter dim-out regulations today.

Lieut. Gen. J. L. DeWitt, head of the Western Defense Command and Fourth Army, changed his dim-out regulations of August 20 to provide that in restricted zones essentially all light visible from above, including street lighting, now must be shielded.

Restrictions on lights visible from the sea remain essentially the same. In addition, the Army broadened its previous description of areas "visible from the sea" to include Central and Southern California coastal regions fronting on the various bays, and in northern Washington, the areas visible from the waters of the Pacific Ocean, or from the waters of the Straits of Juan de Fuca.

of hogs which farmers were holding back to fatten and offer at higher weights.

The ceiling would be placed somewhere between $13.50 and $14.75. Hogs sold this week for as much as $15.75 at Chicago, the highest in 22 years.

It is no secret that Agriculture Department and OPA officials had expected hogs to be moving to market in a much larger volume than has been the case.

Farm officials believed that an increase in the market during the past 10 days would have resulted in a downward price adjustment that would have made ceilings unnecessary.

Farm officials, when asked for an explanation for the slowness of the fall run of hogs in getting underway, said they believed farmers thought ceilings would not be placed on hogs below the September 11 level.

By holding hogs longer, farmers could put more weight on them and consequently make more money.

A ceiling between $13.50 and $14.75 would be below the September 15 level.

ENOUGH MILK ASSURED FOR DRINKING IN OHIO

COLUMBUS, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Ohioans will get enough milk for drinking and preparing food even if it means cutting butter and cheese production, says Dr. Robert B. Stoltz of Ohio State University's dairy department.

The fluid milk supply always is somewhat serious in the autumn, Dr. Stoltz said in commenting on a Cleveland milk producers federation report that the Cleveland area barely had enough milk in sight for fall needs.

BIG MANHUNT IS ON FOR 7 DESPERADOES

JOLIET, Ill., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Illinois' law agencies were in operation today in one of the most widely flung manhunts in the state's history to effect the capture of seven life-term convicts who escaped from Stateville prison yesterday afternoon.

Two of the convicts, leaders in the spectacular break over the prison walls, were Roger (Terrible) Touhy, 44, and Hugh Basil (The Owl) Banghart, 41, once the nation's top ranking public enemies, who were serving 99 year terms for kidnapping.

Two guards and a civilian employee were wounded in the assault by the convicts, five of whom fled in a guard's automobile parked outside the prison.

Warden E. H. Stubblefield said that while officials were certain as to the manner in which five of the prisoners escaped, it was some time after the break before guards found two other convicts were missing. They were Edward Darlak, 31, serving 199 years for murdering a policeman, and St. Clair McInerney, 31, serving a life term as an habitual criminal.

The warden, absent at the time of the break, said his investigation disclosed Touhy and Banghart, both imprisoned for the $70,000 kidnapping of John (Jake the Barber) Factor of Chicago in 1933, and other prisoners were talking to Jack Cito, convict truck driver, outside the bakery. Touhy hit Cito with a pair of scissors, knocked him down and drove the truck across the prison yard to the mechanical shop.

Price Boosts Granted On Some Food Groups

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Some of the nation's housewives may soon pay more at the grocery store under a new alternative pricing formula.

They may also get some items that have been off the grocer's shelves lately because of a squeeze on food wholesalers and retailers who have found it difficult to do business under March ceiling prices.

The jump won't be much, Price Administrator Leon Henderson assured the housewives—"a cent or two for the most part for the affected foodstuffs."

These are hundreds of individual items in 11 broad groups announced last night: breakfast cereals, canned fish, cooking and salad oils, sugar, canned vegetables, coffee, rice, hydrogenated shortening, other shortening, dried fruits and lard. On two of these items, lard and dried fruits, the new price ceilings, effective Oct. 15, are compulsory and present maximums must be abandoned whether the ceilings result in higher or lower price tags.

Some unofficial estimates placed the increase in the nation's food cost at $70,000,000 annually, or about two-thirds of one percent of the costs of the food groups affected.

FIVE TIRES PER CAR TO BE LIMIT SOON

All Extras To Be Given to Government

By DAVID J. WILKIE
DETROIT, Oct. 10.—(AP)—When gasoline rationing is made nationwide within the next few weeks, one of the jolts probably in store for the average motorist is that he will not be permitted to own more than five tires for each vehicle registered in his name.

According to word reaching automotive circles here, the applicant for a rationing card will have to swear that he does not own more than five tires for each of his cars or indicate a willingness to sell the extra casings to the government.

Important New Farm Committee Will Be Named for County

FARM HAULING PROBLEMS WILL GET ATTENTION

Trucks and Other Vehicles Must Have Permit by November 15

Within the next week or 10 days one of the most important committees yet chosen in the rural area, in connection with the war effort, will be formed in Fayette County.

It will be a County Farm Transportation Committee, which will have much important work to do in the community.

Special committees to help solve the transportation problem are being formed in all of the counties in Ohio to assist farmers in developing a transportation conservation program and to aid them in applying for certificates to enable them to get gasoline, tires or repair parts for their farm trucks.

Each committee will contain five members, to be headed by the County Agricultural War Board Chairman.

All farmers operating farm trucks or commercial vehicles must have certificates of war necessity by November 15, and blanks are now being distributed for this.

In Fayette County the committee will be headed by Harry Silcott, chairman of the rural war board, and with him will be a dealer in farm commodities, such as a grain or livestock dealer, two farmers and a trucker.

Silcott goes to Columbus Thursday and Friday where a state-wide meeting of chairmen will be held for general instruction, and after that the work of forming the committee and getting the program launched, will take place.

The certificates of war necessity for trucks and commercial vehicles are complicated and will require assistance to fill out properly. This will be one of the functions of the committee. Truck owners must fill out the certificates on October 22, 23 and 24, and those who do not will be unable to obtain gasoline and tires.

Confusion over Parity Blamed for 'Gyrations'

The current "gyrations" of the livestock markets are blamed on confusion and uncertainty created in the minds of producers and buyers by the price ceilings on meat, the anti-inflation measures which now have the approval of Congress and the "jangle" over farm parity prices. Frank DeWitt, veteran livestock market analyst, writes in the following article in which the views expressed are his own and do not necessarily reflect the opinions or policies of this newspaper.

By FRANK DEWITT

At last the much talked of anti-inflation bill has become a law. The President signed the bill and has appointed an "economic commander" to formulate and carry out the "Price and Wage Control" policies.

Attention is to control prices with not much legislative restriction. "Guidance, yes," restriction, no. May be shocking, but it's true. Control of prices by individual commodities, not by averages, is the objective. "Parity prices may lie dormant for the time being until increased runs break the market, then it will be revived with increased fury."

That you may understand "parity," I will give you my version of it: "Parity" is an abstraction of the Department of Agriculture, which computes every month on the basis of information it gets from its 20,000 reporters: (1), the current prices of every major farm crop; (2), the cost of 174 things the farmer buys—food, clothing, furnishing, seed, feed, machinery, fertilizer.

The figures are averaged by states, then nationally, then compared with figures that show what farmers got for their produce and paid out for necessities between August 1, 1909 and July 31, 1914.

The object of "parity": To give farmers the same purchasing power now that they had in that period, even though prices should go to 110 percent or 112 percent of parity to meet increased labor costs.

COUNTY COMMITTEEMEN ATTEND CONFERENCE

Important matters were taken up and discussed at length at a Triple A district conference held in Circleville, Friday.

Taking part in the conference were the following persons from Fayette County: Chairman Harry Silcott; County Agent W. W. Montgomery and AAA committeemen, John Cannon, Percie Kennell and Mrs. Lloyd Iden.

HOG PRICE RISE HALTS BEFORE LID IS PUT ON

Meat Ceilings, However, Are Reflected in Markets For Livestock

By WILLIAM FERRIS

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—The price rise of most livestock, except hogs, has been checked, market statistics showed today, despite the fact that the government has not as yet moved directly to place ceilings on meat animal values.

Even the upturn in hogs has been leveled off to some extent although prices this week reached new highs since 1920. At a peak of $15.75 per hundred-weight, however, they were still almost $8 under the all-time peak reached in 1919.

Wholesale and retail meat price ceilings and the threat of imposition of limits on live animals themselves have kept the market from running away, trade experts said.

The meat ceilings system, despite complaints in many quarters and acknowledged shortcomings, has been reflected directly in the live market, they said.

Even though a marked seasonal increase in hog receipts has failed to appear so far, the hog upturn has been checked partly because passage of the new price control law would permit ceilings at highest prices posted from January 1 to September 15.

Livestock men said this would mean the ceilings for hogs would be $15.30, paid August 17, for cattle $17.25, paid in April and for lambs $16.15, paid in June.

However, if labor costs are considered, these ceilings could be adjusted upward. Hogs since

LARGE PORTION OF WHEAT ACREAGE SOWN

As result of a week of good wheat sowing weather, a large part of the acreage in Fayette County was sown this week, and practically all of it will be completed during the coming week.

In some instances delay is being occasioned by picking corn before the wheat can be sown in stalk fields.

TRAILER BEHIND A CORN BINDER

That is a new idea to me that a friend gave me this week. "One of the hardest things you have to do in shocking corn, you have cut with a corn binder, is reaching down and picking up the bundles," he pointed out. "The way to avoid this is not to let them fall on the ground, but keep them upright," he continued.

"And how do you do that?" I asked.

"Put a trailer behind the binder and then when your corn comes back, have a man there to set it up, and as you pass the shocks, it is still in an upright position and easy to handle," he continued.

Then he explained that an arrangement like this makes it easy for you to shock all of the corn at one end of the field, if you want to.

A CORN SHOCKER

This trailer plan suggests a corn shocker and there doesn't seem to be any on the market yet that is satisfactory. All I have ever seen tends to wrap the stalks around the shocks, at times, and make it hard to pitch for shredding. There is certainly a need for a good corn shocker that could be hitched behind a corn binder, in this day of farm labor shortage.

WINTER OATS — We sowed about eight acres of winter oats the last week in September, which is a week later than we intended to sow them, but this slight delay in seeding may not make much difference in the yield.

"Sow winter oats before the 15th of September in southern Ohio," is a good rule to follow, year after year, but some years it is hard to do, especially if they follow corn, as they do on our farm.

FIELD OF WINTER OATS

It is possible to get very high yields of winter oats in southern Ohio, and they are more profitable than wheat on some farms, especially on clay soils. That's

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—Football may or may not be the best preparation for war, but its a cinch nothing else short of war gets the boys steamed up quite as much as the gridiron game. Right now there's an argument in the pro league over whether Referee Bobbie Cahn blew a slow or fast whistle in last week's Packers-Cardinals game; the eastern Packers are het up about Harvard's shift and North Carolinians are protesting mildly because Rice waited until about ten days before their game was scheduled to call it off because of "transportation difficulties."

He's collecting his regular contract pay—$165 a month—for exercising the Greentree Stable horses. Navy should get a lot of cheers in today's game with Princeton at Yankee Stadium. Unbeaten Negro Teams To Meet at Chicago

CHICAGO, Oct. 10—(AP)—Two undefeated Negro college football teams, Tuskegee (Ala.) Institute, and Wilberforce (O.) University, tangled tonight at Soldier Field in the 13th game of their series. Tuskegee won last year 26 to 8, but Wilberforce holds a six to four edge in the series, two of the games having been ties.

The Blue Lions made but three forward passes. They won a football game from the Tigers of McClain High School in Greenfield on the field at Gardner Park here Friday night with less than three minutes to play by a score of 20 to 13. It was the first time a WHS team had conquered a Greenfield team since 1939 and there was much joy in the hearts of the Washington C. H. partisans and much sadness in the hearts of Greenfielders.

The Tigers had tied the score at 13-all as the final period drew to an end. The Greenfield fans were howling with delight as it seemed certain the Tigers had averted a defeat at least. The WHS fans were dejected and restless to leave the game. But not the lightweight football team.

Electing to receive the kickoff, which to all but the boys in the blue and white out on the field seemed nothing more than routine, the ball was put in play on the 35-yard line after having been kicked out of bounds. With 65 long and tough yards between them and the goal the Lions opened up with an aerial attack which beat the Tigers at their own game. The first pass from Shoultz to Wackman was completed for a gain of 35 yards. The second pass from Shoultz to Tillett was good for another 12 yards. The timer had his gun out ready to end the game. In desperation that was obvious to both the Greenfield team and the crowds, Shoultz faded back for another pass. He ducked and dodged and shook off would-be tacklers. He refused to let loose of the ball until he could see his receiver in the clear. Then he heaved it far down the field. The ball drifted over the heads of the Tiger defense into the arms of Joe Tillett who stepped across the goal line for the touchdown and victory.

Tumult broke loose. Greenfield fans began to leave. One player after the kick-off to the Tigers and the suspense and game was over.

It was a battered and weary bunch of boys in blue and white that trudged off of the field after that game. They had been outplayed in the last three quarters of the game but they had not been out-gamed or out-fought.

They had met and defeated a hard-hitting and well-balanced team of husky Tigers from Greenfield. To stop the ball carriers had taken everything the Lions had. They had a right to feel proud because they had beaten what everyone in the crowd agreed was an unusually good football team.

The Lions wasted no time in getting underway. They opened up with a savage and determined ground attack with Shoultz setting the pace with rabbit-like runs for long gains to set up the first touchdown within the first five minutes.

Taking the ball on a punt deep in their own territory, the Lions renewed their slashing assault. Joe Tillett, taking the ball on about his own 40-yard line, crashed off tackle and cut back through the center, shook off one tackler after another and dashed nearly 60 yards for the second touchdown after Perce Mann had taken out the Tiger safety man and a defensive halfback both with one sweeping block to clear his path just as they had their arms outstretched to grab the fleet-footed Tillett.

After that first period, the Lions were a tired and limping bunch of boys who just gritted their teeth and kept fighting. But that lead was enough to see them through.

Tigers Score

In the second quarter after the ball had changed hands a few times a long pass from Davis to Payne of the Tigers was complete for a gain of 31 yards. Davis fumbled, then recovered the ball and passed to Newell for a gain of seven yards. The Davis to Newell pass combination again clicked and was good for a touchdown. Davis booted the ball between the uprights for the extra point.

Score Tied at 13-All

Davis of the Tigers nit low and went over his own left tackle for a gain of 17 yards early in the fourth period to put them on the 2 yard line. Davis' attempted pass to Newell was intercepted by Mann but the Lions could make very little gain. Mann punted and the Tigers carried it to their own 43 yard line where they were stopped. The Tigers continued up the field to the Lions' 15 yard line where Payne, shifty colored back, was stopped by Anderson on the 7 yard line. Penwell then hit center to score the second and last touchdown for the Tigers. Davis' attempt for the extra point was no good and the score was tied 13-all. The Tiger touchdown was made with only three minutes of play left in the game.

An estimated crowd of 3000 attended the game Friday night between the Washington C. H. Blue Lions and the Greenfield Tigers.

This is the largest crowd since 1940 when 3100 were present for the Washington C. H.-Greenfield game.

The WHS Blue Lions will travel to Hillsboro to meet the Indians next Friday night.

DeWitt MACKENZIE returns to the WAR ZONES

DeWitt Mackenzie, who has made so many trips to Europe he has lost count, is back in the war zones to write history on the spot. During the next critical weeks, the famous war analyst will cable his daily interpretative column, "The War Today" and special articles to this and hundreds of other Associated Press newspapers. It will be important reading for millions, routine assignment for Mackenzie who has been covering Europe and Europe's wars for more than 25 years. Probably no other American writer has a wider acquaintance abroad. He has traveled extensively not only in Europe but in the Orient and in the Western Hemisphere reporting the world's big news.

The first time Mackenzie went to Europe in 1916 he found himself mistaken for a Sinn Feiner and barely escaped execution during Ireland's Bloody Easter Week Rebellion. He served with British Headquarters in France in the last war, saw fighting in Egypt, covered the British occupation of the Rhine and spent months in India. He reported the Versailles Peace Conference and was on hand at Munich and when Hitler made triumphal entry into Sudetenland. Mackenzie was chief of the foreign service of the Associated Press when he began his foreign affairs column in 1936. His audience at home and abroad has grown to the greatest of any daily newspaper columnist. And Mackenzie, always a good reporter, still is on the move!

FARM LABOR PROBLEM

We have heard a number of Fayette County farmers complaining about the shortage of help on the farm.

We also have heard business men and industrialists say that the farmer is being worse hit than other lines of business and industry.

It does seem to be reasonable to suppose, however, that if "food will win the war" as we hear so frequently quoted, something must be done about the farm labor problem.

Food is just as essential to carry on this war as arms and ammunition. And the United States must raise the food products, grain and live stock to feed not only our soldiers and our people but must furnish food to some of our allies.

Every day young men are being taken from the farms and inducted into our armed forces. Each year the war goes on, the fewer men there will be on the farms. If there is a shortage of farm labor now there will be a greater shortage next year.

From the things farmers tell us and from what we read the nation faces a real problem as to food supply. We appreciate that farmers, as do those in other lines of business, exaggerate their own troubles but it seems evident that there is going to be a shortage of farm labor. Men have left the farms to get the high wages in defense plants as well as having been taken from the farms for military service.

It is time that we faced this serious problem and began to study how to solve it. So far most of the talk has been about the advance in food prices, and little about how the food is going to be produced. No matter what the government may do or try to do if there is a real shortage of food there will be no way to control prices.

Possibly we are unduly alarmed but we should not go blindly ahead until the shortage occurs.

THEY WILL BE REPAID

The Master Race Number Two, meaning the Japs, maintains its honor and dignity in curious ways. A practice reported from the Philippines, and other occupied areas held by this courteous breed, is as follows:

Everyone meeting a Japanese officer on the street must bow to him. A person failing to do so is promptly punished. Even a woman who is riding must descend and make the required number of bows. If it is not done according to the prescribed rule, she is slapped in the face.

All such barbarism will be repaid.

Washington at a Glance

By Charles P. Stewart

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt's recent secret war inspection tour of the United States was a secret for safety's sake, it was explained. That is, it was a secret from all but a few millions of people throughout the country. If it was a secret from any of our enemy governments, they'd be well advised to change their espionage agents in our midst. Assuming that that presidential trip was a secret from their present staffs, they can't be very efficient snoopers.

Such an individual as our White House tenant can't mysteriously disappear from Washington for a fortnight without arousing a certain amount of curiosity as to his whereabouts.

Neither can so well known a personality as Franklin D. Roosevelt devote his two week's absence from the capital to a journey from coast to coast and back again, plus a little side trip into Mexico, facing a huge crowd at each stop-over and making an occasional speech in the course of his travels—he can't do it without being more or less identified.

Franklin D. isn't sufficiently unsophisticated not to realize all this.

Consequently, it's a fair conclusion that safety considerations weren't the sole reason for the secrecy order that he slapped, through Censor Byron Price's office, onto the entire Yankee press, until he was ready, himself, to release the accumulated story.

One guess is that the stunt was in the nature of a practice blackout.

War-time Carrots Get a Haircut

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Carrots are getting a "military haircut"—nothing fancy, just a quick bob. As a result Uncle Sam is saving on wood and nails and on transportation space needed in war.

Bobbing carrot tops has been practiced on a small scale for several years. Now the shortage of packaging materials may give it an impetus. Some growers and shippers have found that by cutting the carrot tops to a length of 4 inches or less they can save up to 40 percent of the crate space. This means saving on crating material, lumber and nails.

Carrots with 4-inch tops remain fresh just as long as those with full foliage, and much longer than those whose tops are pared at their base, say marketing specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Best Type of Dressing as First Aid for Minor Injuries

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
SOMEONE has been asked or inspired to compose a new First Aid Manual and has written in to inquire what disinfectants they are to recommend and why. My feeling is to answer both, "Don't." Don't write another manual on First Aid, and don't put anything on disinfectants in the one you don't write.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

I'll admit I'm a little cynical about civilian first aiders, having seen several of them in action. In the article I wrote on the subject a week or two ago, it will be remembered I dwelt on some other "don'ts." When a person falls down unconscious on the sidewalk, don't try to move him or rub him, and don't try to be too efficient. Just make him comfortable and let him rest. The doctor is on the way anyhow.

Dressing a Minor Injury

We are considering now, of course, a minor injury—an open wound not serious enough to call for a doctor. Every step but one in the dressing of such a wound, simple as it appears, is subject to some discussion. One undebatable good procedure is to put on a piece of sterile gauze and strap it down with adhesive plaster.

The only safe and dependable means of removing foreign particles from a wound is by picking them out with a sterile forceps.

Disinfectants are measured by a standard known as the phenol coefficient, and are classified as bacteriostatic (which means they prevent the growth of germs), and bacteriocidal (which means they kill the germs). The mercury disinfectants are very good bacteriostatic agents, but not very good bacteriocidal. That would be all right and make them useful for skin wounds except that the skin, sweat, wound and blood secretions contain sulfides and other reducing agents which have more or less neutralizing effect on mercurials.

Bacteriocidal Agents

Tincture of iodine is a good bacteriocidal agent and a good skin disinfectant, but somewhat destructive, although this is not important in a small abrasion. Except for tincture of iodine there is no use using alcohol solutions of disinfectants. They sting and the aqueous solutions are just as effective. A crust forms quickly which seals the open spot off, and healing takes place under the crust.

The conclusion drawn by a large hospital staff after considerable study should be fairly easy to remember: "Fresh lacerations of a minor nature which do not require treatment by a physician usually do well if they are merely covered with a sterile unmedicated gauze pad, held in place with adhesive with gentle pressure."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

W. B., Chico, California: Does extraction of teeth cause deafness to any degree? Will a properly fitting plate help deafness to any degree when the deafness is due to extraction?

Answer: Sometimes. When all the teeth in the lower jaw are removed, the jaw bone becomes exposed into the middle ear, causing partial deafness. It can be remedied by a good plate.

Road to Romance

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

LOIS EBY and JOHN C. FLEMING

SYNOPSIS

Following her mother's death, red-haired, slim MARY DEXTER leaves Omaha to take a job in the Nordex Aircraft plant in California. She shares an apartment with FRANK BOND, night club singer and dancer. Friendship develops between Mary and KEN GRANT, young mechanical engineer, also newly employed at Nordex. Mary has been attracted to BRUCE MARTIN, Nordex test pilot, over whom a dark cloud seems to hover.

YESTERDAY: Bruce apologizes to Mary for his conduct.

CHAPTER EIGHT

BRUCE AND Mary still were chuckling as they walked across the spacious hospital foyer. An attendant was just turning off the lights which had been burning since the blackout ended at 4 a. m. here busily mopping. An interne was leaning against the desk talking to the girl on duty.

They paused at the great double door and Mary smiled. "The sun's shining," she said. It seemed a miracle that nature saw fit to continue blithely along on schedule despite man's blackouts and accidents.

Bruce Martin was watching her again—studying the white lovely face, framed by its soft mass of red-gold hair. Exhaustion made some women heavy—sluggish. It seemed to burn Mary's body into almost fragile transparency. He said, in a slow, almost awkward voice, "I hope you'll let me take you home."

Mary's great eyes lifted to his face. For a long moment they held there. The hurt, the embarrassment had been wiped away in the instant healing of their laughter. She saw him now with no bitterness in his eyes; the dark flashing now mirrored something resembling solitude.

"Please do," she said quietly. Almost at the same instant she saw Ken hurrying up the broad, white hospital steps. He raced across the porch and almost ran headlong into them in his frantic dash for the desk.

"Hey!" Mary grinned at him as he stared at her an instant before he recognized her. Then he yelled, "Mary," and she thought for a moment he was going to grab her in a bear hug of relief. "Where—what? I got out two hours ago and called to make sure you kids were okay. Been calling places ever since."

Mary was contrite. "I should have phoned your department, Ken,

I—I guess I was too excited to think." She didn't have the heart to admit that she had never thought of Ken once during her night of trouble. How could she be like that, she rebuked herself as she looked into his worried face. Good old Ken—Ken who had been their pal—their standby. She felt warmed and comforted by his anxious concern and his sincere relief as she assured him Fran was going to come through like a million. Burke was all right—and yes, of course, she was all right. "This is Bruce Martin, Ken Grant," she added. "Why don't you run up and see Burke a minute? I don't feel up to it. Bruce is taking me home."

For the first time since she had known Ken, Mary saw him change as he acknowledged the introduction to Bruce Martin. She heard a strange, cold, hard edge come into his voice, and saw a new power of command in his eyes as he turned back to her.

"I think you ought to go with me to see Burke," he said quietly to Mary. "Then, I'll take you home."

"But Bruce has already offered to take me." There was a note of pleading in her voice. Mary could only stare at the conflict she saw in the men's locked glances. What was wrong? Why did this have to happen to her?

To her surprise, it was Bruce Martin who lost the struggle. After the faintest shrug, a return of the sardonic smile, he said, "Just as you like, Mary."

She had no strength left to decide. They seemed to have done it for her. She felt her face burning like fire, her knees were shaking under her, and she felt a wave of dizziness sweep over her, like a dark ominous cloud to shut out the warm rays of bright sunshine that only a moment before had seemed to heal all the ills in her troubled world. The exciting events of the past few hours had taken their toll of her strength and now, faced with this new challenge, she felt miserably alone and tired. She said good-bye to Bruce Martin and stood quietly watching the straight, broad-shouldered figure go down the long flight of white stone steps.

There was a long moment of silence and then, without turning, she asked quietly, "Why—did you do that?"

Ken didn't answer right away, and when he did his voice was both hard and troubled. "He just isn't the right sort for you to be going with."

Mary's anger flared as she turned to meet his eyes squarely. "Since when have I had to come to you to ask with whom I may go out?" "It isn't that—you don't understand—I don't care who you go out with as long as they are decent."

"Bruce Martin has always been a perfect gentleman to me!" "Sure, and he probably always would be to you, but there's more to it than that. I don't see why you doubt me, Mary. I have tried to be a real pal to you and Fran ever since the first time we met. Can't you believe me now?"

Mary felt a little ashamed for harboring any doubts and yet she couldn't feel that Bruce was really bad. Even if he were, she thought, it couldn't change the way she felt about him. The way she had felt since that first fleeting glimpse she had had of him the day he had so majestically flashed by the bus on which she was riding. Now, more than ever, since she had seen the man and thought, it was impossible to think anything really bad of him. At least, she wouldn't give up her convictions without a struggle.

"You mean that he has a bad reputation?" Mary asked.

"Yes, that's part of it," Ken admitted. "Part of it?"

"Well, he did have his name linked with a movie star in a nasty scandal last year."

There was an awkward moment of silence. "Does a little Hollywood notoriety forever condemn a man out here?" Mary simply couldn't give up.

"Making it just as tough for me as you can," Ken said.

"Oh, it isn't that, Ken. I know you are sincere and you have been grand to me—but, but, well, I just like Bruce Martin and would hate to give him up."

For an instant Ken's face flushed crimson, but Mary was so upset she didn't notice. "In desperation Ken fixed her with an urgent, commanding gaze. "Mary, you just simply must not be seen with him again, because, well, I happened to know, for a fact, that the F. B. I. at Nordex is watching every move he makes."

Mary's heart felt as though it had been squeezed. She felt the walls of her own little world crumbling about her, and as her lips formed, "Why," she could see the answer written plainly on Ken's face even before she heard his words.

Talk About War? . Why Not Babes in Arms

By JOHN GROVER

(Wide World News Service)
All this talk about lowering the draft age to 18 years is a lot of stuff. After taking care of our 30 pounds of infant Dillinger while Mrs. Grover was getting her hair waved, I'm convinced they should lower the draft age to 18 months. That way the most destructive force in our manpower arsenal would be called up.

Lengthy training periods in army camps would be eliminated. It would only be necessary to show the battalion of toddlers a movie of the enemy objective to be destroyed at the same time repeating "No! No! Mustn't touch."

Those magic words bring out the commando in any youngster, complete with primal fury and low animal cunning. They wouldn't leave a brick standing on a brick from Berlin to Tokyo. The Nazi Westwall would be a push-over.

To illustrate: My portable typewriter has survived forest fires, army maneuvers and being used for a pillow on a freight train. In 46 seconds while I was answering the doorbell, Jukes was up to his elbows in its vital organs, which will never be the same again. Think what a dozen of them could do to a tank.

Mrs. G. had a bottle of fingernail polish. The cap was immovably stuck. Hot water and my most grunt-puffing efforts wouldn't budge it. The afternoon I was his keeper he found it. In two minutes he had the cap off, and his hair, rompers and a white plaster wall (we have the davenport there now, and may the landlord never look behind it) smeared with a particularly horrible shade of fuchsia.

There's only one way the idea of drafting 18-months-old raiders could be improved. Equip each destructive darling with a doting grandmother. Those are desperate measures, but this is war. Grandma would think every act of mayhem was just too sweet for words. Counter-attacking forces would be driven off with a don't-you-DARE-touch-that-little-baby glare.

Mrs. Robert P. Wilson Is Again Feted by Lovely Party Friday Evening

Another post-nuptial party complimenting Mrs. Robert P. Wilson (Beth Maddox), one of the season's most popular brides, was added to the many of the society calendar, when Miss Betty Wilson entertained for her sister, on Friday evening.

It was an exceptionally pretty small affair, for which only members of the bride's intimate coterie were invited.

Adding to the pleasures of the evening, was the drive to the lovely country home on the CCC Highway. Artistic arrangements of mums, were in profusion in the large rooms, so ideal for such a gay party.

The charming young hostess welcomed her guests in a ultra-smart brown jersey, while Mrs. Wilson received in a stunning gray wool, with silver nailhead trim, so becoming to her dark and vivid beauty.

The bridge game was keenly and enthusiastically played, with Miss Wilson providing most delightful pleasures during the evening.

Prettily wrapped trophies were presented to Mrs. DeWitt Thornton for high score and Miss Jayne Devins, for the consolation. Miss Wilson also presented a lovely gift to Mrs. Wilson.

A salad course was served at the three small tables, centered with small vases of pink and white mums, and the hour around the tables so enjoyable, that the guests lingered until a late hour.

Two Parties Compliment Miss Harriett Jackson, Guest from Tennessee

Miss Emma Jackson very graciously entertained at her attractive home Friday evening with a dinner party in honor of her cousin, Miss Harriett Jackson, who is a house guest. The delightful party afforded an opportunity to visit with the interesting honor guest, whose work in charge of the Rocky Fork Community Center in Tennessee is so worthwhile and inspiring.

The guests were seated for the dinner at the long dining table which was beautifully centered with colorful fall flowers arranged most artistically in a bowl featuring a pond lily motif. The dinner hour was prolonged and enjoyable.

The evening was spent in congenial visiting in which the large home, attractively filled with many flowers, provided a home-like setting.

In compliment to Miss Harriett Jackson, of Rocky Fork, Tenn., Mrs. Frank Jackson delightfully entertained with a luncheon including ten intimate friends at the Devins' Party Home at one o'clock on Friday.

The table was particularly lovely centered with a large basket of dahlias placed artistically on a mirror centerpiece, and flanked by bud vases of small dahlias of all colors, with bright red predominating.

After the luncheon hour the guests returned to the spacious home of the hostess where a delightful afternoon of visiting with the interesting honor guest was thoroughly enjoyed. An added feature of the afternoon's pleasures was a humorous contest in which the guests participated, with the winning prize going to Mrs. A. B. Murray, and a guest favor to Miss Jackson.

Fayette Garden Club Met With Mrs. C. S. Kelley On Friday Afternoon

Mrs. C. S. Kelley graciously opened her lovely home Friday for the last business meeting of the year of the Fayette Garden Club, with twenty ladies assembling for the afternoon.

The spacious home was ideal for the meeting, with attractive arrangements of fall flowers from the hostess' garden and from those of her assisting committee, greatly admired.

Mrs. A. B. Clifton, vice-president, conducted the business session in the absence of the president, Mrs. Willard Bitzer. The business meeting consisted in the appointment of three committees: the nominating committee, Mrs. Charles Griffith, Mrs. Ed Dice and Miss Fanny Brown; the program committee, Miss Florence Conner, Mrs. Ilo Mark and Mrs. C. S. Kelley; the committee of hostesses, Mrs. Karl Kay, Mrs. E. F. Todhunter and Miss Bess Cleaveland.

Miss Cleaveland had charge of the program and led in the discussion on "bulbs," which is most appropriate for this time of year. The discussion was general and interesting. In closing, Miss Cleaveland invited the members to her home for the November meeting, which is the fall picnic and close of the year's work.

The hostess' committee, Mrs. Kelley, Mrs. P. C. Harlowe, Mrs. Ed Dice, Mrs. Clara Lyle, Mrs. Charles Griffith, Miss Marie Melvin donated Defense Stamps, which is a patriotic gesture made by the club.

Girls Circle
The Girls Circle of Grace Methodist Church held an interesting meeting at the home of Elda Jane Mossbarger on Elm Street.

Joan Wilson, the president, presided and gave the opening meditation, after a prelude of quiet music, played by Nancy Lee James.

The devotional service explained the symbolism of the emblem of the Woman's Society of Christian Service. Alice Lee Montgomery was the reader, while Virginia Mark explained the cross, Eleanor Paul, the spheres; Eileen McGuire the triangle and Anna Lee Reser the wreath. This was closed by prayer and a duet by Elda Jane Mossbarger and Eleanor Paul.

Some of the educational work carried on by the society, was illustrated by Bennett College at Greensboro, N. C. and Gingling College in China. This was given by Mary Ann Craig.

The medical work, illustrated by Clara Swain Hospital at Beireilly, India and Brewster Hospital at Jacksonville, Florida, was given by Barbara Parker.

The Study Book, "The Traded Twins," was partially reviewed by Betty Saum. The program closed with the benediction.

During the business session, the supply work was discussed and a box of clothing will soon be sent to the Alvan Drew School at Pine Ridge, Ky.

The evening closed in a social manner and the serving of a delicious salad course by the hostess.

Miss Helen Minshall was a pretty hostess to an extremely gay party on Friday evening, when she invited the Rehola Campfire Girls to the home of her brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Minshall, on Van Deman Avenue.

The spacious home was decorated in Halloween suggestions with tall fodder shocks in each corner and large pumpkin faces adorning every possible place.

A hamburger supper with many good dishes was served at the dining room table, where a large basket of apples was the colorful centerpiece.

After the exceptionally jolly supper hour, hilarity reigned during the recording of the guests' voices, which was a delightful feature before the girls went to the football game between Washington and Greenfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Minshall and adorable daughter, Kay, assisted in the evening's pleasures.

Mrs. Alex Thompson Fetes Recent Bride with Lovely Miscellaneous Shower

An exceptionally lovely and beautiful affair, feting a recent bride, was the miscellaneous shower party for which Mrs. Alex Thompson was a most gracious hostess, and honoring Mrs. Wilbur Snapp (Janice Lightle), a September bride.

The handsome Thompson home on the CCC Highway, was a perfect setting for the brilliant affair which assembled fifty beautifully gownned ladies.

The adjoining rooms held masses of immense yellow and pink chrysanthemums, interspersed with tiny mums, in the two colors, drawing the deep admiration of all.

Clever and delightful games were played during the evening, with lovely awards presented to Mrs. Ruth Hanna Hopkins, Mrs. Lawrence Grim and Miss Gloria Dale Hearn.

For the shower, the solarium had been colorfully decorated in pink and yellow, with a large parasol of the two shades, a radiant note, hanging over the large assortment of prettily wrapped gifts. Pink and yellow streamers were draped effectively, and entire picture most delightful.

The pretty young bride opened her gifts, and thanked each in her very charming manner.

The cordial hostess invited her guests to the dining room, where it was a picture of bridal beauty with its wedding bells and decorations. A gorgeous watergarden of the two colored poms and mums made an exquisite centerpiece. Large silver trays of dainty sandwiches, colorful confections and nuts, and pretty salads were most delicious and tempting.

Mrs. Thompson was assisted by Mrs. Walter Butcher, Miss Janice Wilson, Miss Elizabeth Grim and Miss Janice Hornbeck.

Matrons Class Enjoys Covered Dish Luncheon

A splendid crowd gathered at the home of Mrs. Leafy Edwards in Bloomingburg Thursday for a delicious covered dish luncheon at one o'clock and a meeting of the Matrons Class of the Presbyterian Church.

The luncheon was served at a large table which was centered with beautiful dahlias from the gardens of Mrs. Elmer Simerl, after which was held an interesting business meeting, conducted by Mrs. John Glenn, president.

The meeting opened with devotionals and closed with a Bible study session, and the members planned for the regular election supper to be held on November 2.

Pretty fall flowers placed throughout the home provided a congenial setting for the hospitalities in which Mrs. Elmer Simerl and Mrs. Raymond Scott assisted.

"Prop wash" is loose talk in the slang of AAF Technical Training Command at Knollwood field, North Carolina.

PRICE BOOSTS GRANTED ON SOME FOOD GROUPS TO GET THEM ON SALE

ers are divided into classes, based on dollar volume of sales. The permissible mark-ups differ as to each class.

For instance, the country retailer is allowed to multiply his net cost of a certain cereal by 1.22 to get his alternative ceiling, while the big city super-market can multiply its net cost by only 1.11. If in either case the new price turns out to be lower than the March ceiling, there will be no change in the price to the public.

"This action," said Henderson, "was taken by OPA to permit essential foods to flow through wholesale and retail channels to the consuming public."

Top dressing winter oats with a light application of manure will prevent some winter killing, but if you use too much manure on them, it has a tendency to make them lodge, and that is a sure way to reduce the yield.

I was on two farms last summer where most of the winter oats crop went down, after a heavy rain, accompanied by wind, but enough to make the crop profitable.

We have been feeding some winter oats to our pullets. They like them as a supplementary grain ration with their whole mash visit with a shepherd and rest his feet, which had been cut and bruised by sharp stones. The shepherd packed the soles of Father La Felt's sandals with short wool fibers. When the priest removed his sandals at the end of the day, he found that the heat of his body and the pressure and moisture from his feet had hardened the wool combs into a pliable but tough fabric. He immediately told the head of the Franciscan order of his discovery, and the latter communicated with the University of Paris. This was a useful fabric discovered as well as another way to utilize wool.

That—Some of the western shearing crews now travel with portable bunk houses and catch and inspection pens.

That—after the Indian rebellion of 1860 sheep became the leading industry of New Mexico. The first sheep shears were taken into the territory by a native of Urban County, Ohio. The first blooded Merino sheep were taken in by George Giddings of Kentucky and were driven across the plains in 1859.

That—there were over 13,000 sheep sold through the Producers alone in Fayette County during the month of September. This does not include those sold at the Union or Fayette Stockyards as their total was not available.

If you haven't already dipped your sheep by all means dip them now. "Better late than never." There is a lot of discussion about symbiotic mange in sheep in parts of the country where sheep have to be housed for a considerable length of time. Symbiotic mange affects the hind feet. There is none of it present throughout this section but dip your sheep anyway. Dipping removes all fleas, mites, lice, ticks, etc. and adds greatly to the comfort of your sheep. A sheep that has nothing to do but eat is bound to do splendidly in getting ready for market.

Be sure to give your ewes a little grain now. This will increase the number of lambs you will have to market in the spring or summer.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—(P)—Corn futures prices fell almost a cent a bushel at the opening today to new lows since last December as the market reflected the government crop report estimating the 1942 crop at an all-time record, with prospective feed supplies for 1942-43 the largest in history. Big production of all crops weakened prices of other grains.

a window. They forced Guard Samuel Johnson to give them two ladders and ordered him and another guard and William Dahler, shop foreman, to get in the truck with them.

Already in the truck were three other convicts—James O'Connor, 35, who had escaped twice before from Stateville, and William Stewart, 43, and Matthew Nelson, 40, serving life sentences as habitual criminals.

They drove to the west wall, fired at Guard Herman Kross in the tower and wounded him. Then they beat Johnson, forced him to climb with them to the tower where they stole Kross' prison keys and his automobile key. Dahler, in the meantime, escaped from the truck. After seizing two rifles, part of the tower armament, Kross' pistol and extra ammunition, the five escaped down the outside steps and drove away in Kross' car.

September 15 have sold as high as $15.75 but both cattle and lambs have reacted since their pre-September 15 peaks were established. Cattle and lambs are lower than they were when ceilings on wholesale and dressed meat were put into effect but hogs are about $2 per hundred-weight higher. This has placed a "squeeze" on pork packers who must sell meat at ailing.

The extent to which the hog upturn has leveled off is illustrated by the fact that this week's peak was only 45 cents higher than the top. In other words, hogs have been fluctuating rather erratically, livestock

GIRL HAS TO HAVE HELP IN DECODING MESSAGE; IT SAID: 'I LOVE YOU'

BALTIMORE, Oct. 10 — A girl at third service command headquarters telephoned Pratt

Library asking help decoding an official message.

"I can't understand what went wrong," she told Miss Mildred Donohue. "I know the soldier who sent it, and he's very smart. The first part is clear enough—just some army orders. But there is a line that doesn't make any sense."

Miss Donohue went to work with a radio telegraph code book. Then she called the puzzled girl. "I've translated the message," she told her. "It reads: 'I love you.'"
